CURRICULUM POLICY STATEMENT

In all school policies we aim to complete the seven core aims and objectives of the Rights to Action Agenda for the Young People of Wales.

“PUT YOUR HAND IN MINE AND WE WILL GO TO THE MOUNTAIN TOP”

By co-operating and trusting each other we aim to ensure that every pupil reaches the top of their ability and talents. We shall do this by offering opportunity, support and guidance within a positive, open-minded, safe and civilised society.

Our Vision for our Pupils

We seek pupils who are fluent in Welsh and English and who are proud of the traditions and inheritance of their locality and their country. We seek balanced and responsible citizens who respect the rights of other individuals and who are comfortable with themselves. They will have respect for their minds, their souls and their bodies and they will have wide horizons and a curiosity for new information. They will have the necessary skills to take advantage of the challenge of the future in the work place and in society and they will wish to continue to grow and develop as lifelong learners and world citizens.

Introduction

In “The 5-16 Curriculum” (HMI 1985) the school Curriculum is defined as being “all those activities, planned or encouraged within the systematic framework, to promote the intellectual, personal, social and physical development of its pupils. As well as the formal programme of lessons it includes the “informal” programme of extra-curricular activities together with those characteristics that create the ethos of the school such as the quality of relationships between individuals, the emphasis on ensuring equal opportunities, the values reflected in the way the school operates and is organised and managed”.

The National Curriculum was introduced as part of the Education Reform Act 1988, and it continues to be a statutory basis for educational provision in England and Wales.

The National Curriculum is based on areas of experience or aspects of learning; individual subjects grouped according to area or aspect; and a range of cross-curricular elements in Themes, Dimensions and Competencies.

Rationale

The curricular process is the heart of the school and it represents “all those activities planned or encouraged within the systematic framework”, for the benefit and welfare of pupils. All who have a part in managing this process within the school should ensure that every pupil is given equal access to the curriculum provided. Children with special educational needs must be provided for in accordance with the Code of Practice 2002.

Curriculum Objectives

The purpose of the Curriculum is to promote the Social and Personal development of each pupil within the school, as members of society, preparing them for adult life. This is expressed in our vision for our pupils;

“They will have the necessary skills to take advantage of the challenge of the future in the work place and in society and they will wish to continue to grow and develop as lifelong learners and world citizens”.

Therefore equal opportunities should be extended to every pupil to ensure that they develop to the best of their ability as:

Learners Who

- Are motivated to learn
- Take personal responsibility for learning
- Work with others
- Develop and apply learning skills
- Learn from and improve their own performance

Members of society who:

- Are emotionally adept
- Are fluent in Welsh and English and who are proud of the traditions and heritage of their locality and country
- Are balanced and responsible citizens who respect the rights of other individuals and who are comfortable with themselves
- Show respect for their minds, their souls and their bodies
- Are aware of the impact of their actions and show respect for the local and wider environment
- Show that they have wide horizons and a curiosity for new information
- Have the necessary skills to take advantage of the challenge of the future in the work place and who will wish to grow and develop as lifelong learners and world citizens

The principles that are a basis for planning and providing a comprehensive curriculum

Scope and Balance

The Education Reform Act 1998 encourages the provision of a broad and balanced Curriculum in Schools that “promotes the spiritual, moral, cultural, mental and physical development of pupils in the school and within society preparing pupils for opportunities, responsibilities and life experiences as an adult.”

The pupils should have an increasing understanding of the value of receiving a broad and balanced programme of study, in every period of their career in the school.

Flexibility

The curricular provision should fully consider the needs and attainment of every individual. Differentiated teaching methods and materials should be provided that meet the requirements of every pupil.

The use of time should be planned – i.e. the length and pattern of the school day, week, and term to ensure the maximum benefit for the pupils.

Relevance

The curricular provision for pupils should fully consider their requirements, their interests and their experience as learners and individuals, preparing them for adult life. It should also consider the needs of other stakeholders including parents, members of the local community and employers. The curricular provision should reflect the aims of the 14 – 19 Learning Pathways, the Learning and Skills (Wales) Measure 2009 and key issues identified by the South East Wales Consortium.

Consistency

The curricular provision should ensure that attainment standards and the quality of the learning and teaching are maintained and improved.

Cohesion

The Curricular provision should ensure integration within and between the components, interlinking subjects, cross-curricular elements and the hidden Curriculum.

Progression and Development

The curricular provision should be planned and provided within and across the Key Stages (Foundation Stage-KS2; KS2-KS3; KS3-KS4, KS4-KS5) ensuring progression and progress in the standards achieved by pupils, and in the quality of the learning and teaching.

Efficiency and Effectiveness

The curricular provision should ensure that the quality of education provided is maintained and improved through the effective use of extensive and varied learning resources.

Evaluation and Review

The curriculum should be regularly and systematically reviewed against criteria that measures how the curriculum<sup>2</sup>:

- Contributes towards achieving high standards. Any judgements with regard to effectiveness should be based on the standard of work and the response of pupils, rather than predetermined ideas regarding curriculum.
- Reflects the school's objectives taking into account their consistency and the extent they reflect the objectives set for children of statutory school age in the Education Act 1988.
- Is broad and balanced in terms of the pupils' experiences, individual subject's schemes of work, and the school's plans for providing cross-curricular elements.
- Conforms to the statutory requirements of the national curriculum.
- Delivers content that is appropriate to the pupils' attainments.
- Is organised effectively in terms of grouping pupils, within mixed ability classes, streams or bands; arrangements to take pupils out of classes or provide additional support.
- Prepares pupils for adult life.
- Is enriched by extra-curricular activities that integrate the formal programme.
- Allows every pupil equal access to all the experiences offered by the school.

Methodology

The quality of the curriculum should be reflected in the effect its content, its processes and its organisation has on the personal and social development of pupils, by using suitable learning and teaching strategies.

- The potential of every pupil should be considered, paying attention to information transferred from primary schools as well as assessments.
- The way in which pupils learn as well as what they learn should be considered.
- Pupils should be encouraged to develop at a pace that is suitable for them as individuals.

In accordance with the School's Learning and Teaching Policy: -

- High expectations should be created with regard to pupils' performance
- A variety of teaching methods should be developed
- Lessons should be challenging
- A problem solving atmosphere should be created and encouraged in lessons
- The pupils should be active learners taking increasing responsibility for their learning as they get older
- The homework set should reinforce and build on the work completed in class

<sup>2</sup> During the COVID-19 crisis, the Welsh Government has given schools flexibility with regard to the statutory content of the curriculum allowing our school to respond effectively to the needs of learners. The school responds by reviewing all aspects set out here for the benefit of each learner.

- The learning aims for every lesson should be presented at the beginning of a lesson
- An extensive programme of activities and extra-curricular activities should be provided.
- An investigative attitude towards learning and teaching should be nurtured.
- An ethos of support should be nurtured where achievement is challenged and encouragement is given.

Assessment

Assessment is an integral part of learning and teaching. Each department's Assessment for Learning policy should reflect the School's Policy. Through the school's SIMS and SMID systems it is possible to track the progress of every pupil in formative assessments and emphasis is placed on sharing targets with the pupil so that they can improve.

The School's Values and Ethos

The curriculum should reflect the school's values and ethos, which were established by the staff, the Governors, the parents and the local community. A healthy partnership between the school, the home and the community should be formed.

Cross-Curricular Themes

The following themes and dimensions should be included in the formal and hidden curriculum, during the relevant key stages: -

- The National Literacy and Numeracy Framework
- The Welsh Dimension
- Global citizenship
- 3 – 19 Skills Framework
- Careers and the World of Work framework
- Education and the Community
- Environmental Education
- Equal Opportunities
- Health Education
- Information Technology
- Multi-Cultural Education
- Personal and Social Education

Contribution of departments

The departments tailor their lessons to conform to the requirements of the National Curriculum in Wales, considering the needs of every individual when planning their courses. Every department considers all the other aspects that enrich the pupils' experiences and every effort is made to ensure that "every pupil reaches the pinnacle of his/her ability and talents" in accordance with our Mission as a school.

Literacy, Numeracy, Key Skills and Thinking Skills

Literacy, Numeracy, Key Skills and Thinking Skills are skills that are necessary for a range of activities in education and training, in the world of working and indeed in everyday life. Developing the skills within school subjects is preparation for life within and outside school hours, whilst recognising how important it is to be able to communicate effectively, to work with numbers, to use modern technology, to solve problems, to work with others and to monitor and reflect on how personal performance can be improved. The aim of the school with regard to promoting the skills across the curriculum is to give every pupil the opportunity to develop a range of important skills that enable him/her to fully develop his/her character and so to prepare him/her to be a balanced and responsible citizen who is ready to face the challenge of the future.

Key Stage 3

In Key Stage 3, Religion values and ethics, Physical Education, Personal and Social Education, Relationships and Sex Education, Careers Education, English, Welsh, Mathematics, Science Modern Foreign Languages, Design and Technology, Information Technology and Communication, History, Geography, Art and Design and Music are compulsory. Pupils undergo statutory assessment at the end of Key Stage 3. Statutory assessments include teacher assessments taken by every pupil to allow for an evidence based judgement of the level at which a pupil is working at the end of the key stage.

The school is a Pioneer School for the development of the Curriculum for Wales, teacher training for the Curriculum for Wales and the Digital Competence Framework. Consequently, various projects are being piloted across KS3 in order to develop pedagogy and understanding of the Areas of Learning and Experience, the four purposes of the curriculum and to provide feedback to the network of pioneer schools and those schools that are not pioneer schools on a local, regional and national level.

Key Stage 4

In Key Stage 4, Religion values and ethics, Physical Education, Personal and Social Education, Relationships and Sex Education, Careers Education, English, Welsh, Mathematics, Science and the Skills Challenge Certificate are compulsory.

We will continue to follow the basic principles stated at the beginning of this policy to ensure that our pupils continue to have the necessary broad horizons. The School's local curriculum is inputted to the Careers Wales website to ensure that it satisfies the requirements of the Learning and Skills Measure (Wales) 2009.

The pupils are assessed at the end of Key Stage 4 mainly by accredited qualifications (GCSE, BTEC, Award) that are recommended for use with pupils of compulsory school age as noted on the Qualifications Wales website (Qualifications in Wales \(qiw.wales\)).

14 – 19 Learning Pathways

Science courses are tailored to meet the needs of the pupils and other stakeholders. Students studying Science in KS4 study either Double Award Science, Applied Science or Triple Science. The course/s studied is/are chosen by the Science Department following a discussion with parents, pupil and Science teacher during an options evening.

Options evenings provide an opportunity to assess and develop the curriculum since all Year 9 and Year 11 pupils are provided with an options booklet (which includes all relevant course details) but are also surveyed to ensure that the curriculum meets their needs. Courses are added to or deleted from the curriculum following the options process. The wide range of courses offered and the qualifications gained are noted in the options booklets.

The School has formed a strong partnership with Cardiff and the Vale College (CAVC) and the Military Preparation College (MPCT) in order to further augment the options menu with public services and hair and beauty in Key Stage 4. The Hair and Beauty course is located off site at Barry College. The School works in partnership with Portal Training to provide the SWEET course for students identified as at risk of becoming NEET (Not in Education, Employment or Training). The School provides suitable extended work experience placements or courses in the ACT centre in Cardiff for students at risk of becoming NEET and Junior Apprenticeship programmes in CAVC when required.

The menu of vocational courses offered in the School includes Sports (KS5) Team Work and Personal Development (KS4), Work Related Education (KS4), Construction (KS4), Health and Social Care: Principles and Contexts (KS4), Travel and Tourism (KS4 & 5), Applied Science (KS4), Medical Sciences (KS5), Criminology (KS5) and Music BTEC (KS5). ### Additional Learning Needs

The School has a special educational needs policy for statemented and non-statemented pupils, and the Learning Support Department are preparing Individual Development Plans (IDP) in readiness for September 2021. The emphasis of IDPs will be on making provision that delivers tangible outcomes that contribute in a meaningful way to the child or young person's achievement of their full potential. The School determines the appropriate courses in consultation with the parents and relevant teachers.

Other Relevant Policies

The School has policies for Assessment For Learning, Teaching and Learning, Sex and Relationship Education, Health Promotion, Food and Fitness, PSE, Spiritual and Ethical Development, Homework, Education for Sustainable Development and Global Citizenship and Equal Opportunities. These policies are implemented through the curriculum.

Concerns and Complaints

Parents who have concerns about any aspect of the curriculum should discuss these in the first instance with the pupil's Head of Year.

If the issue is not resolved parents should make an official complaint in writing to the Head and follow the School's complaints procedures.

Monitoring and Review

This policy is monitored and reviewed by the Curriculum Manager (Assistant Head), who reports to the Head on its implementation.

The Head reports to the governing body's Curriculum Committee on the progress of the policy and changes are recommended.
